Re: non-compliance with Dumping at Sea licence S0024-01

Cllr. David Healy

Mayor of Fingal
2020/2021

A chairde,

County Hall,
Swords,
Fingal,
Co. Dublin

I was surprised on 10th April at around 4pm to see the Waterway, the boat used by Dublin Port for dumping dredging spoil, stationary in Dublin Bay surrounded by a plume of cloudy water, at a location considerably to the east of the identified dumping area in the above licence.

Áras an Chontae,
Sord,
Fine Gall,
Contae Átha Cliath

I checked the vessel's location and recent path on the Marine Traffic app which confirmed this.

I attach photographs taken from a vantage point at 53.368866660093595, -6.077266796102569, together with a compass bearing taken from that point toward the boat and screenshots from the Marine Traffic app. I'm sure you will be able to get the full location data for the day from the Marine Traffic website.
